Vol. 77 No. 10 Wednesday, March 12, 1969

TWO WEEKS HAVE elapsed since the advent of the progress edition for 1969, which also marked the start of this paper's 75th year of service to this community.

There is still a demand for copies of that issue and, as we noted before, we took the precaution to expand the press run. Thus far all the requests for additional papers have been met.

And again we voice our pleasure in the response of the community to our efforts in that ambitious undertaking, the largest newspaper (32 pages) ever produced in the 74 years this community medium has been exposed to the community of Campbell or vice versa.

Frankly we have been glowing with pride at the comments and compliments that have been tossed our way.

Unfortunately, there is no rest for the wicked, so it is impossible to rest on the laurels of one edition.

There happens to be 51 other issues that must make their appearance during the year.

THOSE OLD PHOTOS OF Campbell that were published in the progress edition apparently were much appreciated by both the old and new timers.

Undoubtedly those pictures had a lot to do with the success of our special.

The pictures had accumulated in the files over a period of years. Unfortunately, it was impossible to segregate them or give proper credit to the donors.

Some were brought in by Bert Campbell, of 2295 S. Bascom, who has been in the area since 1892, although he is no relation to the Campbell family who founded the town.

Bert attended the Campbell Grammar School and his mother had attended the Cambrian School. His late wife was the daughter of Charles Townsend who, according to Bert, was the first rural free delivery mail carrier in Calif.

Some of the ancient photos (vintage of 1910) that were used came from the collection of Charles De Selle, of 63 N. Second St.

Others came from the Ainsley Corporation which has been around these parts for quite a spell (1882). There were others that came from the Campbell Water Company, another old-time Campbell institution.

We could not pinpoint the credit for each particular picture, therefore we take this means of indicating our appreciation to all involved.

There were others, including the Methodist and Congregational churches, that should be credited with assists.

We thank 'em, too.

CREDIT SHOULD ALSO be given Lew Armistead, who covers Campbell for another newspaper, for a photo of the modern era of Campbell that appeared in the edition.

Lew graciously furnished us with a copy of the shot taken at the CofC installation of all nine mayors (dating from 1952 to the present) of the City of Campbell.

We missed the set-up when all nine got together at one time which had been arranged before the dinner by Jose Stell, another one of our contemporaries.

The group photo of the nine men who at various times have headed this city government very definitely should have some historical significance, for very few cities that we know of would be able to get ALL their past mayors together at one time, even some cities younger than Campbell which marks its 17th birthday this month.

We have mug shots of all the mayors in our morgue. But the group shot was quite unique.

It was a nice gesture on the part of the city and CofC to invite the mayors and present

Community Progress Congress takes place Saturday at college

Five panel discussion groups feature third annual event

Campbell's third annual Congress for Community Progress takes place this Saturday, March 15, at West Valley College where registration will get underway at 8:30 a.m. Lunch will be served in the high school cafeteria and the Congress is slated to end about 3 p.m.

Five panel discussion groups are slated to go into session after the opening program which will include the showing of filmed highlights of Campbell entitled "No Longer a Stranger", presented by Bill Siden of Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

Campbell Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the City of Campbell and West Valley College are sponsoring the Congress. Most of local service clubs have contributed funds to underwrite the program.

PG&E has cooperated in the staging of all the congresses. In 1967 the slides were labeled "A Stranger Looks at Campbell" and last year "A Stranger Returns".

The first two congresses were rated highly successful, although the attendance was disappointing.

Efforts have been made this year by the general committee, under the chairmanship of the Rev. W.H. (Ben) Gould, to get wider interest in the project.

In addition to the support from various service clubs and organizations, letters have been sent to all who attended last year's Congress and all residents in the area have been urged to attend.

KARL MARSHALL

A free baby-sitting service has been established at the Methodist Church, just a short distance from the college, thus both husband and wife will be able to attend the Congress.

The $2.50 registration fee this year, which includes lunch, is also lower than that charged in previous years.

The five panels that have been set up are designed to get the maximum of interest from the citizens of the community.

Panel A, "Community Administration" is led by Bob Stephens, city manager. One of the matters that will be tossed around, according to Stephens, will be how the city and county government can improve their service to the community in the coming year.

Serving with Stephens on the panel are: Supervisor Ralph Mehrkens, Dale Scott, executive director of the Santa Clara County Taxpayers Association and a member of the Campbell Planning Commission, Dean Chamberlin, Campbell city councilman and Frank Kukuk, vice-chairman of the Parks and Recreation Commission.

Bruce Stevenson, principal of Rolling Hills School, is the leader of Panel B, "Community Education".

Discussion on this panel will probably involve current and future facilities and enrollment, curriculum, communication and innovation in the school systems.

BOB STEPHENS

DOROTHY GOBLE

BRUCE STEVENSON

TOM SNOWDEN

Serving with Stevenson are: Joseph P. Bellenger, assistant superintendent, adult and vocational education, San Jose Unified School District; Dr. Wallace Hall, superintendent West Valley College; Frank Bonanno, trustee Campbell Union High School District and Ray Russell, director of instructional services, Campbell Union High School District.

Tom Snowden, an executive with Snowden-Pincer, an industrial firm located in Campbell, will head Panel C, "Community Economic Growth".

Serving on the panel with him are Bob Harrison, manager of the IBM card plant in Campbell; Don Kennedy, manager of the Campbell Ave. branch of Bank of America and first vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce and Don Callahan, CPA.

If possible, Fred Sahadi, who with Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel, is associated in the proposed development of Council withdraws ordinance

Boats can stay in front yards

Boat and trailer owners won a smashing victory Monday night at the City Council meeting when the proposed ordinance that would prohibit the storage of boats and trailers in front yards was withdrawn by an unanimous vote of the councilmen.

The action by the Council was greeted with cheers by approximately 30 persons who had waited patiently throughout the evening for the proposed ordinance to come to bat.

It was midnight when the controversial trailer-boat storage law hit the deck and almost 1 a.m. when the motion to withdraw it was passed.

The motion to withdraw the ordinance was made by Councilman Dean Chamberlin, who had opposed it from the very start, claiming that it was an invasion of a property right. Ralph Doetsch seconded the motion.

All five councilmen, surprisingly, voted for withdrawal.

Councilman Ed Rogers, who had led the floor fight for the ordinance, explained that, although he was voting with the majority, he still favored putting the question to the people on a ballot. His motion (and the second by Homer Hyde) to schedule such a ballot measure was later withdrawn. The other councilmen wanted to see if there would be any reaction

Council may lift restriction on senior citizens housing project

All of the 40 units in the apartment complex planned on San Tomas Aquino Road near Latimer will probably be rented with the city's official blessing to senior citizens (above 62) under the federal lease-supplement program. Official action on the project will probably be taken at the next meeting, March 24.

That was indicated Monday night when the City Council unanimously directed City Attorney Joe Bonacina to draft an amendment to the present city policy which now implies that only 25% of any unit in the city can be subsidized under the rent-supplement housing program.

The action Monday night stemmed from the previous meeting when by a 3-2 vote the Council denied the request of Ralph (Jack) Carnett to lift the 25% requirement.

Carnett told the Council that he had received approval of both the county and federal authorities for his proposal to put the entire 40-unit complex under the housing authority through a special lease arrangement.

The apartments would be rented only to those 62 and over.

Three councilmen, Mayor Bill Smeed, Ralph Doetsch and Ed Rogers, felt, however, that allowing an entire unit to go under the housing authority was contrary to the Council's intent to protect the city from ghetto-like situations. Councilmen Homer Hyde and Dean Chamberlin had opposed that concept.

Since the previous meeting, a number of local organizations, interested in housing or senior citizens or both, had protested the Council's action and urged reconsideration.

Among the protests filed was a letter signed by Philip Novak, of the Commission on Christian Social Concerns and by the Rev. W. H. (Ben) Gould, pastor of the First United Methodist Church of Campbell.

The letter claimed that a very definite housing shortage exists in the Campbell area and emphasized that the 40-units planned by Carnett

City lets bid for fire house --reluctantly

Campbell's long-awaited Fire Station No. 2 on Sunnyoaks moved a step closer to reality Monday night when the City Council awarded the contract for it to James Marsh Co. on a low bid of $297,000.

But the councilmen indicated they were not too happy about it.

The six base bids submitted ranged from a low of $297,000 to a high of $336,400.

What upset the councilmen was that the low bid was $32,400 above the engineer-architect estimate for the project.

The Council couldn't even consider any of the six alternate bids because the base bids were so high. So, instead of getting a few "extras", hopefully, the City will have to dig up more money than had been planned.

Bond issue for parks to go on ballot in June

An organizational meeting for the "Citizens Committee For Park Bond Issue" will take place this Thursday, March 13, in the council chambers at the City Hall.

The purpose is to plan the campaign for the proposed $350,000 (approximately) bond issue (possibly on June 10) that received the green light of the City Council Monday night, according to Bill Podgorsek, chairman.

Podgorsek, of 860 Virginia Ave. is a member of the Parks and Recreation Commission.

Vice chairman of the citizens group is Mrs. Dale (Sharon) Scott, whose husband is executive director of the Santa Clara County Taxpayers Association and a member of the Campbell Planning Commission.

The action by the City Council on Monday night was another act in the fast-moving drama that began in January when the Planning Commission approved a 288-unit apartment complex on property adjacent to the city-owned Rincon Park.

The Parks and Recreation Commission, in an unprecedented action, appealed this action by the Planning Commission because it infringed on the limited open space within the city limits and plans for the expansion of the central park.

In October, 1967, a bond issue for park land acquisition failed by about 30 votes to get the needed two-thirds majority of the electorate when $2,600,000 in other civic improvement bonds were approved.

Since the appeal was filed, sincere efforts have been made by the owners of the property on which the apartments are planned, Don Hiatt and Fred Zolezzi and the developers, Guild West, represented by Paul Frechette, to work out the problem with the city.

On Feb. 24, Don Hebard, Parks and Recreation Commission chairman, announced that the developers and the owners had agreed to sell the 8.5 acre parcel adjoining the park to the City.

The City would pay $34,000 per acre for the land, $2000 per month for taxes and interest until the bond issue and $2000 for expenses of the developers.

Available also is 1.23 acres of county-owned land south of Rincon at an approximate cost of $31,000. City Manager Bob Stephens estimated that overhead costs for the election and sale of bonds would be $13,000 or for an approximate total of $401,000.

The action of the City Council directing that the bond election be called was recommended by the council's finance committee, which is headed by Councilman Ralph Doetsch and composed of City Treasurer Velma Olds, City Clerk Dorothy Trevethan, Finance Director Jeff Whitaker, City Manager Bob Stephens and Vice-Mayor Homer Hyde.

City Attorney Joe Bonacina's recommendation that the Parks and Recreation Commission appeal should be withdrawn when the agreements are signed with the property owners was also accepted by the Council.

Former Councilman Charles Rose, who was defeated in his bid for reelection last year, took the microphone after the Council had taken the action calling the bond election, to voice his opposition to it.

Boast, Boost or Blast

As was the case in the two previous years, this year's Congress for Community Progress, which will take place this Saturday, March 15, at West Valley College, has had a poor pre-registration.

We sincerely hope, however, that the 1969 Congress will attract a greater attendance than was the case in the two other congresses.

As most of you know, the Congress for Community Progress is a valiant attempt by a group of interested citizens to bring the civic issues that confront the people of this community today into the open where they can be discussed, reviewed, explained and analyzed, by experts and the people themselves.

The Congress for Community Progress is what the name implies. The idea is a good one, provided the residents in the community respond and participate.

The idea for these community congresses stemmed from officials of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co., who have long recognized that people in an area often are unaware of what makes a community tick.

PG&E has done an excellent job in graphically exposing community features, some bad, some good, on film as a part of the utility's effort to get the citizens interested in improving their own community.

The film that was presented by PG&E at the first Congress in 1967 was entitled "A Stranger Looks at Campbell"...Last year the title was "A Stranger Returns" and this year it will be "No Longer a Stranger".

The scenes of Campbell that were depicted on the screen in the films often brought embarrassed laughs from the viewers. But they served a useful purpose in bringing the town into focus, and emphasizing where improvements were needed.

We sincerely believe that the two previous congresses have proved of invaluable assistance in providing guidelines for community development, as well as providing a sounding board for citizen reaction to local problems.

For example, the first congress in 1967 established a sound base from which to launch the successful civic improvement bond issue.

And the third Congress for Community Progress this Saturday, March 15, hopefully should give some indication as to how citizens of this community feel about a bond issue for acquisition of park land.

But the value of the Congress this Saturday, as was true in the previous ones, is in direct proportion to the number of people who attend.

That is why we urge you to attend. You will get value received.

The five panel discussion groups cover almost every facet of community life. Every resident of the area should find something which interests him personally and possibly will get the answers to questions that have long remained unanswered.

The panels include: (A) Community urban affairs; (B) Community Administration; (C) Community education; (D) Community Youth and (E) Community Economic Growth.

The total registration fee is only $2.50 which includes lunch.

That is a small price to pay for the wealth of information that will be available at the Congress this Saturday.

The committee planning the Congress, headed by the Rev. W. H. (Ben) Gould, who was chairman in 1968 also, has made a determined effort to present a community-wide program.

It is a wonderful opportunity for the average citizen to learn "what's cooking" civic-wise and also to allow these same citizens to be heard on community problems.

We are well aware that many people who have been highly critical of the way the community affairs are conducted will not show up at the Congress.

It would spoil their act.

They prefer to continue to be uninformed about civic issues. Otherwise the facts might interfere with their complaints.

We sincerely believe that, if a person lives in a community, he should make an effort to learn firsthand what the problems and issues are in his area.

Every resident should also welcome the opportunity to partieipate in discussion groups concerning the goals, the problems and the progress that is being made.

The Congress, we maintain, offers us all a chance to boast about the community, to boost the efforts that are being made to improve it or to blast the leaders for not accomplishing the objectives.

We urge you to turn out next Saturday and have a good time with the three "B's"...

You can BOAST, BOOST or BLAST to your heart's content.

All for the price of $2.50, including lunch.

RECORDING CURRENT events on film is one of the necessary functions of a community newspaper.

In addition to portraying current history, the photos are invaluable, as we have pointed out, in reviewing a community's background and history, at a later date.

For example, the transforming of the Gomes Ranch into a garden apartment complex with all the fixins' that go with such a project is, of course, newsworthy, noteworthy and historical, in a provincial way.

It is not the first orchard within the city limits of Campbell, "the orchard city", that has had to bow to progress and the bulldozer (not necessarily in that order).

In fact the Gomes Ranch is almost the last, and it rather outdates Campbell's slogan, "the orchard city".

Even the most callous newcomer to this community must have had a twinge of passing nostalgia when viewing the demolition of the trees and buildings on the Gomes Ranch.

And just imagine how the old timers and members of the family felt who watched their memories go up in dense black smoke.

Of course, it is progress.

But it is still sad.

And we betcha that the smoke from the burning buildings was not the only reason some people at the "control burn" at the Ranch were seen wiping their eyes.

"CONTROL BURNING" of condemned buildings is conducted by the fire department and provides an excellent means for the training of firemen for fires uncontrolled.

Because we were unable to get to the control burn on the Gomes Ranch to record it pictorially, we suggested that Fire Chief George Maxwell and Fire Marshal Gene Borden use our camera for a few shots of the historical occasion.

But wouldn't you know?

For some reason the camera acted up for the firemen.

However, they were able to use the film anyway so we did get the photos.

Thank you, men.

Years from now those pictures can be dug out and displayed when someone wants to know "how come Campbell goes by the name of Orchard City?".

Or maybe the youngsters will even ask; "Mom, what is an ORCHARD?".

-0-

WE MENTIONED THAT a lot of fond memories went up in smoke at the control burn on the Gomes Ranch.

By one of those coincidental quirks, the training officer in charge of the control burns, etc., of the Campbell Fire Department is Jerry Gomes, with a rating of battalion chief.

Directing the demolition of the home and ranch in which a guy has grown up must have caused a tug or two on Jerry's heart. We wonder how many times he had to wipe his eyes.

From the smoke, of course.

Ironically, that is probably the last control burn Jerry will direct.

After a distinguished record with the local department Jerry is leaving April 1 to enter private business.

State group recomends college get $500,000 grant for library

The Coordinating Council for Higher Education of the State of California has recommended approval of a grant of $500,000 to West Valley College to the U.S. Office of Education for the college's proposed Library Resources Service Center on the Saratoga campus.

A similar grant was made by the federal government last year toward the construction of the Language Arts-Social Science Classroom Building.

The recommendation was given fourth in a total of 15 submitted by the Council to the U.S. Office of Education Dr. Wallace W. Hall, West Valley College president, recently told the Board of Trustees.

Total estimated cost of the center in the long-range master plan of the Saratoga campus is $2,196,095, of which a substantial portion is expected in state funds also, to supplement local contributions.

Emphasis of the need for such library and classroom facilities was shown in the approval of claims by the Board.

Routine items included the sums of $327,940.02 in tuition fees to San Jose City College, for students taking courses there in 1967-68 which were not, or could not be offered at the limited West Valley College facilities, and an additional $87,166.44 in tuition fees to Foothill College for the same reason. Total claims approved were $568,131.87.

The board also accepted, as a general guide, the so-called "Phase II" development program of the college, providing for operation of two campuses the temporary site now occupied at Campbell, and the other under construction at Saratoga for the next few years.

The Board also indicated it would await further suggestions on the recommendations of the faculty on the Phase II program.

would be a type of "economic integration" rather than a concentration of a group in a single area.

Novak was present to urge the Council to reconsider its previous action.

Other letters of protest were received from The West Valley Senior Action Committee, United Progreso Arriba and the County Housing Authority.

The housing authority reported that there were 260 elderly citizens at present in Campbell of low income who could qualify for the rental supplement housing. Ray Davis, of the Housing Authority, was present at the meeting to further explain the problem.

The action to modify the present policy before taking action on the reconsideration question was recommended by Bonacina. On Councilman Roger's motion, the reconsideration matter will be held in abeyance until the next Council meeting when it is expected that the policy change will be made.

Although the councilmen indicated that they were willing to reconsider the question and lift the 25% ban in this one instance, they also emphasized that they were not setting a precedent. They felt some sort of restriction was necessary on an area basis.

to their action first.

The proposed ordinance had been suggested in a letter to the City Council in November from three residents, Mrs. Margaret L. Taylor, 61 La Vonne Dr., Mrs. Margaret Lander, 141 Coventry and Douglas Lawson, 159 Coventry, who claimed that many trailers, boats and campertops in front and sideyards were unsightly and detracted from the appearance of the city.

The proposed ordinance which was presented for first reading Feb. 24, upset the majority of boat and trailer owners. In most cases, they claimed, it would be impossible to store their units in their own back yards. Thus it would mean that they would have to pay for storage.

Jim Armstrong of 204 N. First St., was the first of many speakers opposing the ordinance to take the floor when Mayor Bill Smeed opened the discussion. Armstrong also presented petitions containing 589 signatures of residents against such a law.

Also speaking against the ordinance included Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Anderson of 611 Harrison who turned in a petition with 40 names in opposition.

Other opponents who spoke included, Albert D. Armstrong, 66 S. Christopher; John Brown, 1549 Walnut; Gerald Garn, 313 N. Milton; Willard Marnella, 163 El Caminito; and Edward M. Cavallaro, of 286 Sunnvoaks.

Herbert L. Reaves, of 505 Sobrato, a leader in the battle from the beginning, was the final opponent of the ordinance to take the microphone, although Mayor Smeed was kept busy controlling the responses of the audience of the emotional-charged issue long after the discussion had supposedly ended.

The lone person to speak in favor of the ordinance from the audience was Mrs. Herman F. Russell, of 207 Branbury. Councilman Rogers emphasized that many of those favoring such an ordinance were reticent about speaking out but had contacted him personally.

Two arrested in home burglaries after alert citizen calls police

At least eight recent home burglaries were solved March 7 with the arrest of two suspects who were apprehended by Campbell Police after they had been observed by a citizen who called the police after she observed the suspects prowling about residential yards.

Booked on suspicion of burglary were John H. Azevedo, 20, who apparently had been living out of his car; and a 15 year old boy who had been acting as a lookout while Azevedo forced his way into the homes.

The two were arrested after they had entered a home at 230 W. El Caminito which was occupied at the time, but the resident had not heard them enter, due to a hearing problem. They were observed loitering about the residence by a neighbor who called police.

Other residents of the area cooperated with the police officers in pointing out the direction the suspects had taken and the two were apprehended at the Campbell Plaza parking lot, after Police Chief John Morgan, Capt. Don Burr and Officer Don Dore had cornered them.

Azevedo was booked into the county jail and the juvenile into juvenile hall after they pointed out to officers other residences in the Campbell area they had recently broken into and entered.

Most of the loot which consisted of money and jewelry was recovered by police officers.

Two other would-be burglars were arrested by Campbell police this week after they apprehended Ralph Tudor, 29, 3137 Cadillac Dr., San Jose, and William Welch, 36, 287 Calle Lolita, Los Gatos, inside of the Tiki Ho Restaurant, 331 W. Hacienda Ave. The two had used a crow bar to pry open a back door to enter the establishment during the night.

When Officer Paul Schommer was making a routine check, he observed the pry marks on the door and called for reinforcements. Officers from Los Gatos and Campbell responded and while checking out the business, heard distinct chopping sounds inside the business. After entering the building officers found the two suspects attempting to chop open the safe. This was the first attempt by both suspects.

Letters to the Editor

GOOD EDITION

Dear Mr. Vierhus -

Congratulations to The Campbell Press for 74 years of serving the community of Campbell and to you and your staff for another outstanding Progress edition. I very much enjoy reading each issue of the Press when I receive them and think this Progress Edition was the most enjoyable.

In comparing the articles and pictures from the first edition of the Campbell Weekly Visitor to the present, especially The Prune Yard, one can readily realize how Campbell has MOVED FORWARD. After reading the item on page 8 from the first editorial of the Campbell Weekly Visitor regarding land for a park, one might wonder when it was written. Have we really MOVED FORWARD?

Congratulations again and keep up the good work.

Sincerely yours,
Sincerely yours,
Robert E. Dalzell

CITY EXTENDS ZONING FREEZE

That zoning freeze that has been on the Gilman-Dillon-Railway area for the past 90 days in order that a study be made as to what zone is best for the area, will be continued for one year, as a result of the City Council's action Monday.

The interim zoning which was put on the industrial-zoned area so that industrial building could be halted expires next week. It either had to be lifted entirely or extended for a year.

JayCees seek nominees

Campbell JayCees this week began seeking nominations for their annual "Distinguished Service Award" that will be given to some young man or woman in the community (between 21-35) on Saturday, March 29.

According to Nozer Haladwala, JayCee vice-president and chairman of the committee in charge of the selection, the winner will be selected by a panel of three judges and will be based on the leadership qualities shown by a young man or woman during 1968.

Nominees must either work in Campbell or reside in the community. They will be judged on (a) contribution to general community welfare during the year (50 points); (b) evidence of outstanding leadership ability (25 points); and (c) evidence of personal business progress.

Haladwala, Jerry Gomes, JayCees prexy, and other officers of the organization urged churches, business firms, clubs and organizations to present names of possible candidates for this outstanding community award.

"Nominations" should be signed by three people and should list the basic statistics and other pertinent data relating to the award, i.e., occupation, schooling, time in community, community activities, etc.

Bob Dalzell, now residing in Santa Maria but who was active in community affairs while living in Campbell, was the winner last year, the first time the award was presented.

RAINDROPS

Flowering almond blossoms, yellow mustard, snow on Mt. Hamilton and a few days of sunshine heralded the end of a current spell of rainy weather. During the last week 1.30 inches of rain fell, bringing the total rainfall to 22.42 inches.

This time last year Campbell had received 12.03 inches of rain with normal at 12.00. Last year during the month of March two and one-half inches of rain were recorded for the entire month.

Old wives' tale #265:

"Cooking fuel causes kitchen grime."

Down the drain with #265! Steam's the cause of most kitchen grime. Grease-laden steam coats your ceiling, walls and curtains—not cooking fuel. So keep your pots covered while cooking and keep your kitchen cleaner.

And here's a tip from PG&E home economists to help keep your oven clean. When baking pies, cut the top crust a half inch larger than the pie plate. Tuck it under and scallop the edge. High scallops hold in the juice. But just in case, put a piece of slightly larger foil on the lower rack to catch any drippings.

Another way to keep your range looking like new is to wipe up spills immediately, expecially acid foods. Drippings of milk, tomatoes or fruit will discolor porcelain enamel if left too long. Also, don't use scouring pads or harsh abrasives on porcelain. They make tiny scratches.

Also, you'll do a lot less scouring if you use a timer. It'll remind you when to turn down the heat. So, no more burning and spilling over.

Another way to prevent spillovers is to use a roomy pot. Gives moisture a chance to bubble up without going over the edge.

Camden Chatter

By Diane Carman

Camden High's Robin Hirano is the winner of the Herbert Hoover Scholarship. On February 20, the award was presented on a television program. Robin received five hundred dollars to use at the college of his choice.

Receiving the scholarship is based on grades, extra curricular activities, recommendations of a teacher, and civic activities. The scholarship is sponsored by the Santa Clara Valley Engineer's Council. Robin was chosen from approximately fifty high schools in our valley. He plans to attend U.C. Berkeley and major in nuclear engineering.

"Scarborough Fair" will be in the air on March 21 as the seniors hold their annual Senior Ball. The ball will be held at La Rinconada, where the George Beary Band will provide the music. Students will then move on to the Safari Room, with the late evening and early morning music sounds by the "Bronze Hog".

Dancing, bowling and pool will be among the activities available to seniors at the after ball party. The Safari Room will also have all the roast beef and chicken the couples can eat, and all the soft drinks they can drink. A breakfast of bacon and eggs will also be served. The bids will be $12.00 per couple and include entrance to La Rinconada and the Safari Room.

Election of officers and discussion of future activities took place at a CSF and Honor Society breakfast meeting held on February 27, from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m. in the Camden cafeteria.

Chuck Culley took over the meeting from former president, Pat Teverbaugh. The new v.p. for the spring semester is Russ Ferrante. Ann Snyder will take over the job of secretary and Dick Bebb is in charge of finances. Working as historian will be Lori Bender. Sgt.-at-arms Charlie Jones will keep the future meetings in order. All officers are required to be CSF members.

BRANHAM. The Cougars dumped the Bruins in Branham's gym, Feb. 18, 58-52. Although the Cougars only won by six points they owned this game all the way. They kept a lead above Branham throughout the whole game. High scorers were: Phil Lind, Rick Menden, Art Worsham and Dennis Garvey.

DEL MAR. Camden rambled past the highly rated first place Del Mar Dons, in Camden's gym, Feb. 20, downing the Dons 56-46. Tim Tolbert joined Phil, Rick, Art and Dennis as a high scorer.

SARATOGA. Saratoga's Scott Loomis led the Falcons to a crushing defeat over the Cougars, Feb. 25, in a 86-68 loss. Rick Menden, Phil Lind and Dick Bebb led the scoring, but later transferred out so all team members could play in the last league game of the season.

FACULTY. Camden dropped this hoop-play to the undefeated faculty of Camden High School in the Cougar's gym (naturally) 46-36.

The Cougars couldn't quite control the fine scoring of Bill Yonge and Charlie Platt who scored 14 and 13 respectively. Rick Menden led the outsized Cougar offense with 11 tallies and Dennis Garvey had eight.

Tree planting observances mark Arbor Day

Arbor Day on March 7 was observed in Campbell by various garden clubs, schools and youth groups, who planted trees in honor of Luther Burbank, California's famous hybridizer, whose birthday falls on that date.

At the Capri school the entire student body took part in planting a Douglas Fir on the grounds, while Mark Jennings, principal, read a history of the tree and the Arbor Day background. Members of Girl Scout Troop No. 13 planted an evergreen tree at the Congregational Church of Campbell grounds.

Campbell Garden Club members and members of the junior group, the Camp Belles, joined together to plant four Kwanzan cherry trees on the grounds of the St. Lucy's church, which carried out the landscaping plan submitted earlier in the year. The flowering cherry tree is one of the trees traditionally planted by the Garden Club in observance of Arbor Day. They have also planted Valley Oak trees at several of the schools in the Moreland district.

ARBOR DAY CEREMONIES---Arbor Day was observed March 7 in Campbell schools, by Girl Scout troops and by other organizations who planted trees in honor of Luther Burbank, California hybridizer. Above members of the CampBelles Junior-Intermediate Garden Club plant one of four Kwanzan cherry trees at St. Lucy's grounds. Holding two other trees is Paul Brannon. In the background are Mesdames Minnie Synder, James Hartman, B.A. Bringham, Pedro Kuri, Clifford Moore and Joseph Aversente, junior chairman. Children helping with the planting are, front row, l. to r., Cathy McGough, Arline Gonzales, Kathy Mansfield and Kathy Carry.

Pool Helps Family to Keep Fit, Happy

It takes some families almost two years from the time they come to the conclusion that they would be happier with a swimming pool to the time when they take their first dip.

This was one of the findings of a motivational research study just completed for the National Swimming Pool Institute.

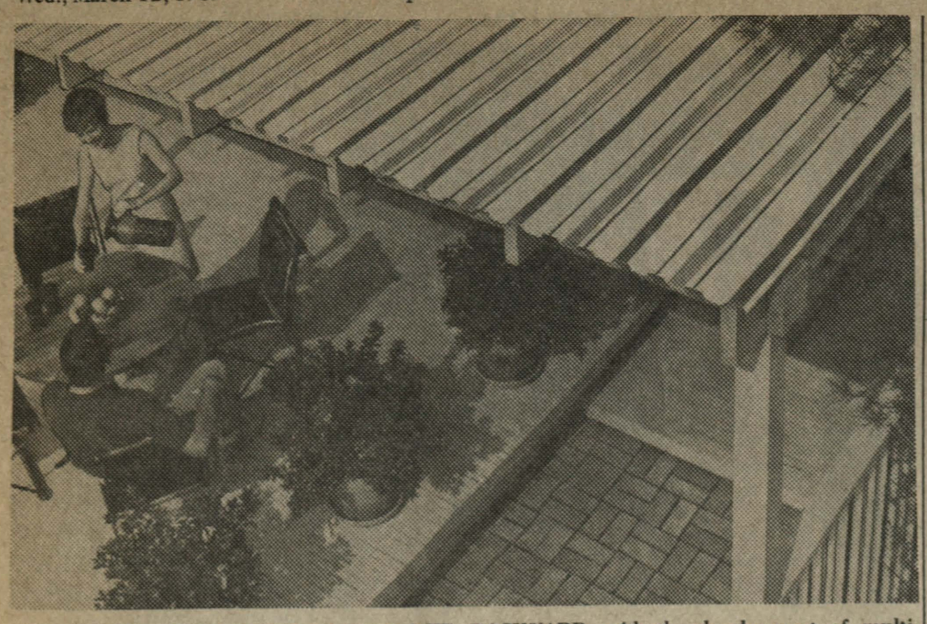
Cars, which generally cost what a pool does, are bought with very little advance study by the family. Yet the car purchase has a built-in depreciation in value, while a pool adds to the value of a home, as well as to family pleasure.

A pool is considered a home improvement, and can be financed either through a bank loan, or through the contractor who builds the pool.

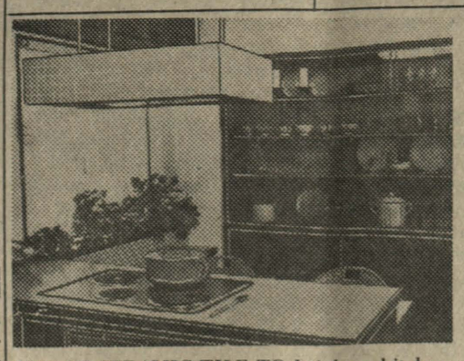
Families with members who love to swim make their decisions more quickly and easily, according to the study. They know the benefits of being able to take a dip at their own pace, at any time of the day or evening.

The women queried in the survey said they breathed easier at the thought that the children are in a place where they can have fun and be supervised, without intruding on their feeling of freedom and relaxation. Mothers also liked the idea of knowing the children's friends when they are invited over to swim.

Families responding to a question about the changes in their lives since owning a pool said most frequently, "It's such an easy way to keep fit, and such fun."



HOME DECORATION EXTENDS INTO THE BACKYARD, with the development of multi-colored translucent plastic panels. Used for patio roofs, as shown above, or for fences and other home improvements, the striped panels come in colors compatible with house paint exterior trim. They fit in with many siding materials, including brick, steel and stucco, and with architectural styles from Polynesian Modern to traditional Cape Cod. Filon-Stripes panels from Filon Division, Vistron Corporation.



USE OF CERAMIC TILE TO brighten kitchen as well as help in keeping it clean is idea suggested here. Walls are covered with glazed wall tiles, while countertops, window box, range hood and floor are finished with ceramic mosaics. From Tile Council of America.

SPECIAL LOOK FOR KITCHEN begins, here, with a special floor. Basic pebble-pattern tile of vinyl asbestos is outlined by white feature strips. The strips are available in several widths, colors. Photo, Asphalt and Vinyl Asbestos Tile Institute.

Room Dividers Linked to Chains

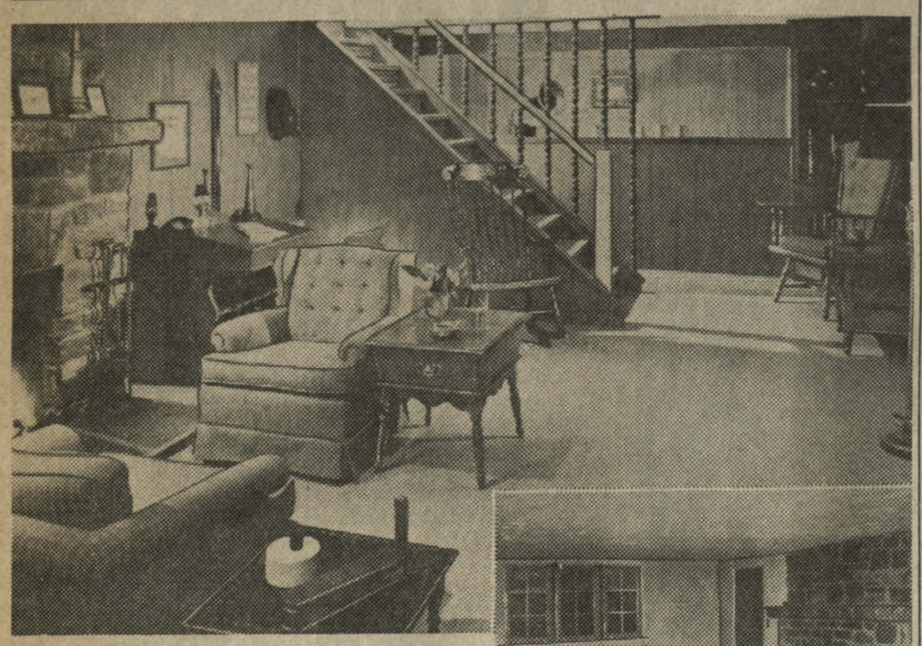
Making their mark in fashion as belts and necklaces, link chains now move on to link up with home fashion.

For home improvement projects, chains may be suspended from ceilings to hold shelves, planter baskets or lighting assemblies. They're effective, too, as window decorations or room dividers.

Unusual treatment for any large window might be created with brass sash chains used horizontally to form a circular curtain. This is most practically done in a foyer or living room, where there is no need to close out light completely.

Chains may also be hung straight from traverse rods, with drapery pins or S-shaped hooks to connect chains to rod openings.

If a decorative rod is attached to the ceiling, chains may be hung in the same way for use as room dividers.



NEED MORE SPACE? Check the basement before planning an addition, is suggestion here. Large, unfinished basement (right) is transformed into family room above.

TO ENHANCE BEAUTY of fieldstone fireplace and stairway, wormy chestnut paneling was used in the modernization, which included vinyl flooring. Plastic-finished hardboard paneling from Marlite.

Prefinished Materials Aid In Home Rejuvenation

To growing families and grown-up families of every size the conquest of space begins at home.

Families looking for more space often overlook the solution of an unfinished or unsightly basement—but the basement, which may be little more than a storage room or a place for the kids to play on a rainy day, very likely has unlimited modernization potential.

The built-in addition of privacy that every member of the family wants for reading, writing, hobbies and informal entertaining is basic to a basement — whether it's in an old or new home.

Before proceeding with plans for remodeling, however, the homeowner should review his basement with a contractor, architect or building material dealer to see if it has the room and flexibility that is needed.

Changing Exterior

Another point worth considering is the advisability of expanding the home improvement project to include some exterior changes along with the basement remodeling job. This has the advantage of coordinating the appearance of a basement and a basement entryway.

Once started, rejuvenating the appearance of the basement becomes an easy accomplishment with the help of the many prefinished building materials available.

Interior paneling and exterior siding in a wide range of choices can help to create an individual look and a family room suitable for every purpose and need.

Space-stretching techniques vary with the size and condition of the basement. In one old house with a roomy basement, the natural fieldstone stairway and fireplace provided the nucleus for the "new look."

New Living Areas

Wormy chestnut paneling in washable, plastic-finished hardboard was installed throughout the room. Vinyl flooring, posts and beams to conceal built-in lighting and a few pieces of Early American furniture completed the modernization of a now-comfortable living area.

Newer homes, while they lack the rambling basements of yesteryear, are candidates for basement remodeling jobs, too.

For instance, a small basement in a typical tract house was transformed into an unusual recreation area by opening up one wall to the outdoors and raising the floor to form a conversation pit around the fireplace.

Pecan plywood paneling provided an elegant backdrop for the copper fireplace and colored accessories.

A suspended ceiling system with translucent fiberglass was added to conceal the old rafters left exposed in the stairwell for design interest.

Meanwhile, outside, prefinished siding with matching batten strips added architectural distinction to the new entry to the remodeled basement. An amber bottle glass skylight helped to dramatize the entryway.

Re-Siding Benefits

For interiors, prefinished paneling to suit any job is available in various sizes for easy handling and in a diversity of wood grains.

For exteriors, prefinished siding comes in a wide choice of textures and materials — among them, plywood, mineral fiber, aluminum, steel, asbestos cement and vinyl.

Even a newer home may benefit from re-siding — witness the remodeling project just discussed. For the older home, re-siding strips years from its appearances, as well as adding protection and increasing home value.

Ease of installation and little-or-no maintenance are advantages shared prefinished sidings and panelings.

A building materials dealer can supply information on the features of specific panelings and sidings.

New Room Quiets Down

What price quiet and privacy?

A few hundred dollars should buy both, when an extra bedroom or den or a new-room addition is turned into a quiet room.

Simple techniques make it possible to convert a room into a place where adults can read and relax and children can do their homework in quiet comfort. The same room seals noise in as well as out, so it can be used for parties, music lessons and TV watching.

A new home builder — or add-a-room contractor—can easily add the proper materials to sound condition a room. He can put blankets of insulation within the walls of the room to soak up noise, and staggered studs within the wall to break up sound patterns.

Weatherstripping and threshold gasketing around the door help prevent noise from leaking in or out of the room.

Finally, a special acoustical ceiling, with wood beams, can absorb up to 85 per cent of the noise that strikes it.

In the older home, it's difficult to add wall insulation and staggered studs. But sound conditioning can still be significantly improved, by installing acoustical ceilings and gasketing around door.

Moving On to Remodeling Loan

With the cost of new homes shooting up like a startled catbird, it is getting tougher and tougher to make the jump from one house to a bigger or better one.

Many homeowners are finding that one good answer to this problem is not to move at all, but to improve and expand the homes they have now. Not only is it apt to be cheaper, but it lets them stay in neighborhoods they've come to like and allows kids to stay in schools that are familiar.

Most home improvements can't be financed right out of the pocket, but banks stand ready and willing to lend the necessary cash. According to the American Bankers Association, here is a brief summary of the six main ways to finance home improvement today.

ONE: Title I Loan. A homeowner can borrow up to $5,000 with seven years to repay under this short-term loan insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

Such loans can be used only to finance alterations and repairs that will protect or improve the basic livability or utility of the already existing structure.

The loan may not be used for projects which are not "essential" to a home, such as a tennis court or a greenhouse.

TWO: Bank Home Improvement Loan. A homeowner can borrow up to $3,500, and in some cases more, and take five years to repay, depending on the bank's policy.

Banks make these loans entirely on their own, so they are not subject to FHA regulations. Therefore, the money can be used for improvements considered non-essential under FHA regulations, such as wall-to-wall carpeting and landscaping.

THREE: FHA Long-Term Loan. Under Section 203K of the Federal Housing Act, a homeowner may be able to borow up to $10,000 for a one-family dwelling, $20,000 for two-family, $30,000 for three-family and $37,500 for four-family, for as long as 20 years.

If the home is less than 10 years old, the loan must be used for major structural changes, such as adding a new wing or room.

FOUR: Open-End Mortgage Loan. Does the home mortgage contain an "open-end" provision? If so, it may be possible to obtain money for home improvements by adding the amount borrowed to the original loan.

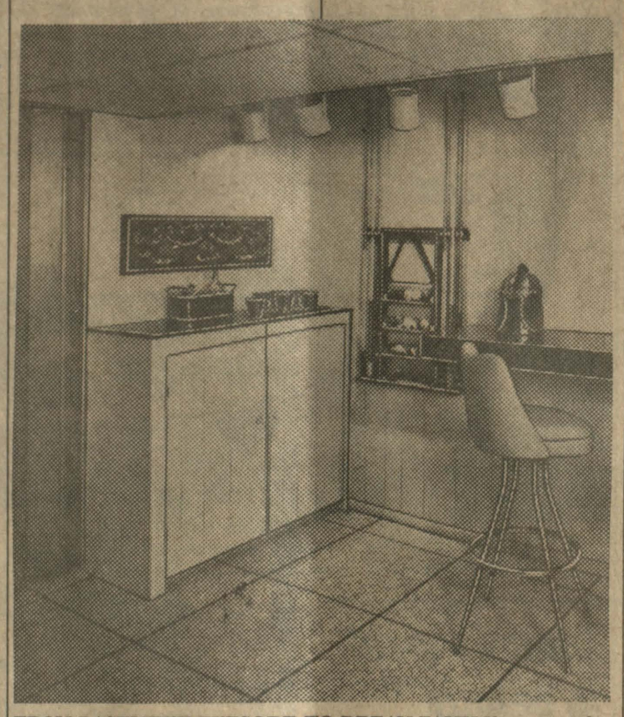
FIVE: Refinancing Present Mortgage. If the mortgage has no open-end clause, it may be possible to retire the existing mortgage, then get a new one in a larger amount to include money for improvements.

Some states' statutes do not permit refinancing.

SIX: Personal Bank Loan. If home improvement projects are small, consider a personal bank loan.

WHAT'S NEW for the HOME

EVER SINCE EVE, WOMEN HAVE ENJOYED leisurely private grooming — which can play havoc with a family's bathroom scheduling. One way to ease congestion and add elegance is to install a special lavatory in the master bedroom. Complete grooming center can be built around a shampoo lavatory with retractable spray-rinse, single faucet control. Suggested by Judy Steuer, bathroom consultant for Borg-Warner Plumbing Products.



FROM BASEMENT EYESORE TO DREAM FAMILY room is the transformation effected here. Basement recreation area, modernized with prefinished hardboard paneling, includes space for snack bar and built-in storage unit. Rough-textured hardboard panels screen off the laundry-workshop area, left. By Masonite.

DECORATED DECK IN VEST-POCKET SIZE attractively provides for outdoor living ease, even in small space. For instant gardening, plants in natural clay containers adorn the wood deck.

How to Soften Up Water Problems

Ask any homemaker. Coping with hard water means hard work.

It also costs money, the Water Conditioning Foundation points out.

Here's why:

1. The life of clothing and linens subjected to hard-water laundering is shortened.

2. Homemakers must use more soap to do dishes, laundry or cleaning. Even then, dishes are likely to have a film, and clothes and floors an off-color look. Soap, water and the cost of heating the water all drain dollars from the budget.

3. Hard water leaves a scaly deposit in pipe and water-using equipment, shortening the useful life of such equipment.

About 85 per cent of the country has water hard enough to require treatment. Many families use a softening agent in washing machine or to do the dishes, but the real solution is an automatic water softener that conditions water before it enters the piping system, says the Foundation.

In the modern unit, the water flows through a tank where a chemical removes the hardening minerals. As the chemical becomes saturated, it's automatically regenerated.

The equipment is easy to install and is virtually maintenance-free. Equipment is also available for other water problems such as excessive acid or sulphur.

To solve water problems, consult a water-conditioning dealer, the Foundation suggests.

DOES TEAKETTLE look like this (above)? Then plumbing pipes probably look like that (below). Scale and minerals deposited in teakettle are signs that same thing is happening in pipes and water heater. Condition can be corrected by installing a water softener.

SEARCHERS---Navy river patrol boat (PBR) crewmen probe the dense undergrowth along the Vam Co Tay River in an effort to uncover enemy arms caches. The Viet Cong often use large steel barrels for hiding arms and supplies.

SEARCH AND CORDON---Members of the U. S. Army's 1st Cavalry Division (Airmoble) leave a U. S. Navy river patrol boat (PBR) to search for enemy arms and munitions along the banks of the Vam Co Dong River. In the first six weeks of the Navy's Operation "Giant Slingshot", the Navy-Army teams captured more than 40 Viet Cong munitions caches.

State Controller to discuss tax reforms in San Jose on March 13

Houston I. Flournoy, Controller State of California and chairman of the advisory commission on tax reform will discuss the recommendations of the commission in a speech on tax reform to members of the Santa Clara County Taxpayers' Association, Thursday, March 13, at 8 p.m. The meeting will be held in the chambers of the Board of Supervisors at 70 W. Hedding St. in San Jose.

The report of the commission was recently delivered to the governor and has created considerable discussion and debate according to Dale H. Scott, executive director of the Santa Clara County Taxpayers' Associaton.

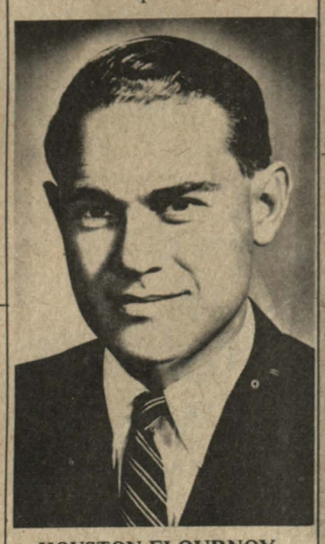
"We are pleased that the Controller has been able to accept our invitation to discuss the report with the citizens of Santa Clara County", Scott said.

"As an Association of Taxpayers' we are deeply concerned about the current inbalance of the tax structure in California and we welcome, therefore, the opportunity to hear directly from the Chairman of the Advisory Commission proposals of the Commission regarding basic tax reform" he added.

Controller Houston I. Flournoy served in the Assembly for six years and was elected Controller in November, 1966.

Before his election to the Assembly he was associate professor of government at Pomona College and Claremont Graduate School.

The meeting is open to the public.



HOUSTON FLOURNOY --state controller

FOR GOD AND COUNTRY--Tony Van Laarhoven, principal of Hazelwood School, hold a plaque presented to the school on behalf of Cub Scout Pack No. 377 during their recent Blue and Gold awards dinner. With Van Laarhoven on the left is cubmaster Cecil Kroening and Lowell Egger, committee chairman on the right.

HIGH-JUMPER--George Stuart, a high jumper on the West Valley College track team and a graduate of Campbell High, shown high-jumping in the Camino Norte Conference Relays at Santa Rosa last Saturday. Stuart also triple-jumped and led his relay team to a first with a 44'11" leap.

TOP HORSE SHOE PITCHERS---Verdan Zelmar, left, of 2183 Abbey Lane will be one of the entries in the Northern California Horseshoe Pitcher's Ass'n. opening game this weekend at Ryland Park Saturday and Sunday. Zelmar, who placed second last year in the Santa Clara County Fair competition, is shown with Ralph Randall, the Pacific Coast Open Champion. Zelmar has submitted plans to Henry Cary, Parks and Recreation commissioner, on the possible development of a World Tourney type horseshoe court in the Rincon Park plans. The public is invited to attend the opening tourney in San Jose starting at 11 a.m. Saturday. Interested potential horseshoe pitchers are invited to call Zelmar at 378-3206 for further information. Fifty shoe qualifying rounds will be held this weekend.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

A recent tragedy that hit the State of California may very well prove to be the catalyst bringing about greater protection of this nation's wildlife and seashores. I refer to the oil pollution which has occurred in the Santa Barbara Channel, killing wildlife, destroying beaches and causing untold economic hardship.

Former Secretary of Interior Stewart A. Udall is a dedicated conservationist. I am convinced that when he authorized off-shore drilling in 1968 by some of our oil companies he did so in the belief that drilling regulations and restrictions guaranteed that the tragic experience we are enduring would not occur. In retrospect he may have been wrong, but my purpose is not to point the finger of blame at any individual. Rather, we should profit and learn by our experience.

The oil pollution problem in the Santa Barbara Channel is the first major crisis confronting our new Secretary of Interior Walter Hickel. He has taken firm action and obviously is dedicated to resolving the problem. Although I would have favored a more strict order concerning the cessation of drilling and production, this would not have made any difference in stopping the leaking Union Oil Company well. Incidentally, I believe it is significant to note that the Union Oil Company has accepted responsibility and is willing to bear the cost of restoration where required. However, this would not always be the case, and I am pleased to say that my colleague who represents the area of Southern California most affected by this tragedy, Congressman Charles Teague, is also seeking appropriate solutions.

Several weeks before the disaster struck, Congressman Teague had introduced two bills relevant to the situation. One would make permanent the two mile zone of protection beyond the existing three mile state oil sanctuary in the vicinity of the City of Santa Barbara. The second bill would set up a trust fund to take care of all damages in the event the company owning the leaking oil well or ship failed to assume responsibility or was unable financially to do so. In addition Congressman Teague has introduced a bill that will permanently ban, with the exception of a national emergency, all further oil activity in the Santa Barbara Channel. I believe that off-shore drilling should be stopped in the Santa Barbara Channel, but these are proposals to meet a specific problem in a specific area.

The National Science Foundation has announced a sea grant to support Santa Barbara Channel Research. This grant will go to the University of California at Santa Barbara and will permit scientists to take recognition of the effect of pollution in their research. This is only a part of the effort which will be made to bring about a balance between exploration of the ocean for valuable resources and preservation of those resources we now enjoy.

I am convinced this goal can be achieved and the Santa Barbara incident has brought into focus the need to deal with the general problem immediately.

Girl Scouts

Want a hot tip on the best investment you can make this week? Girl Scout cookies, of course, just 50 cents a box and four different types from which to choose.

Why a good investment? When you purchase a box of cookies from a Brownie, Junior, Cadette or Senior Scout, you're actually investing your money in the future of many worth while citizens of tomorrow. The proceeds from the annual cookie sales help to provide better camping facilities, help the girls to feel they are sharing in the responsibility of meeting the remaining one-third of the Council budget the United Fund cannot provide and aids in a small portion of income for the troops involved.

For each case (12 boxes per case) sold, the troop receives 50 cents for their own budget. This profit is used toward expenses of spring camping and other projects.

The sale will extend just five more days so the time to buy is now! Invest your money in our citizens of tomorrow. You'll feel better because you helped and the cookies are delicious. Remember – they freeze beautifully for one year!

The Baker Brownies, Troop 602, made their television debut recently on the Hocus Pocus Show. Sixteen Brownies, their leaders, Mrs. Brownies, their leaders, Mrs. James Sinnott and Mrs. W. D. Montero, and several mothers, little brothers and sisters had the pleasure of attending the "taped" show. Because of the taping and the split reading program at Baker School, many of the girls were able to view themselves on TV a few days later when the program was aired. It was certainly a thrill for all the giggling Brownies.

The two Junior troops at Capri School, Troops 420 and 371, had bridging events with their sister Brownie troops to celebrate Thinking Day. Troop 420 had a "pajama party" (after school) where all the Brownies in Troop 483 and their leaders were asked to attend in their pj's and bring a stuffed toy. They looked silly, but had fun!

Troop 371 invited the Brownies of Troop 1034 for fun, games and refreshments. A skit was performed by one patrol and a great time was had by all.

Tantau's place in DeAnza swim meet

Tantau swimmers came home from the DeAnza "B" meet last weekend with 25 "A" times. Big scorers for the day were Debbie Cash placing five times and Edie Armstrong placing four times.

Mike McKenzie bettered his existing club record in the eight and under 100 free and 100 I.M. while swimming ten and under.

Other team members placing were, Ann Gatlin and Michele DeWitt, eight and under girls; Buck Armstrong, Matt McLaren, Danny Kemper and Randy Armstrong, eight and under boys; Lisa Sperling, ten and under girls and Doug DeWitt in the ten and under boys.

In the 11-12 girls Annie Fitpatrick also placed in the "A" 50 free while Doug Demerelli placed sixth in the "A" 50 free and second in the "A" 50 back in the 11-12 boys, and Kent Penning placed sixth in the 100 fly, same category.

Big brother seeks two fatherless boys

Any mother or guardian of a fatherless boy between the ages of 7 to 13, who would like the boy to have the companionship of a "Big Brother" is urged to call Dennis Murphy at 377-8211.

At the present time the Big Brother Club, which meets at the West Valley College under the sponsorship of the College Y, has room for two more young boys.

The club has been in operation for two years, and twice a month they meet with the young boys and participate in group activities. The youngsters are also taken out on an individual basis by the "Big Brother". The club activities provide the young boys with a needed male companionship often lacking in fatherless homes.

The next meeting is scheduled for Sunday, March 16 at the college. Club activities include games, miniature golf excursions and trips.

Legion plans Fish Derby for kids

Members of the American Legion, West Valley Post 158, continue in their observance of the Golden Anniversary of the founding of the American Legion on March 15, 1919, with initiation of new members on Friday, March 14.

Initiation ceremonies of 75 new legionaires is scheduled for 8 p.m., at the Legion Hall 1344 Dell Ave., according to Keith Marcuson, commander.

In addition Marcuson announced, March and April have been designated as periods of special recognition to all Past Post Commanders, regardless of post or communities served. Special ceremonies are planned for West Valley's five 50-year life members, Rex Kaber, Herb Myring, Hardwick Vowles, William Gale and Nick Mandich.

The post will sponsor a Fish Derby with the opening of trout season on May 3. Local merchants will have registration applications for the derby which is open to children and their fathers from the West Valley area. Inquiries should be direct to Past Commander David Buchholz.

Janie Wong places first in Elks contest

It has been announced by Richard H. Bartels, state chairman for youth activities for the California-Hawaii Elks Association that Janie Wong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wong, 494 Sunnyoaks Ave., has placed first in the California Girls Leadership contest.

Her name and qualifications have been submitted on the national level of the Elks Youth Leadership contest and announcement will be made on April 4 as to her placement award.

Janie has experienced a rapid acceleration of recognition since last year when she was chosen to represent the American Legion Auxiliary Post 158 at Girls State in Sacramento. Since that time, when she was chosen Governor of Girls State, she has had two trips to Washington, D.C., and a number of other honors in recognition of her poise, intelligence and leadership qualities. She is presently a senior at Campbell High School.

$70 tax refund confuses many, county assessor office reports

The strangest things happen when you deal with people, like the County Assessor's Office troubles over the $70 tax refund.

When the office staff begun mailing out the application blanks which will result in a $70 repayment to many Santa Clara County property owners they had no idea it would bring a flood of money to the County from confused taxpayers.

First there was the man who enclosed a check for $800 when he mailed his refund application. He is a businessman who really intended to send it to one of his suppliers, but somehow it got into the wrong envelope.

Someone else sent $200 which was supposed to be a tuition payment to a college.

Property owners are eligible for the refund if they owned and lived in a home, a duplex or a condominium apartment in this County on March 1, 1968. However, no one is entitled who receives the veteran's exemption, and the refund cannot be claimed on more than one property.

Anyone who believes he is entitled and has not received an application should telephone 286-7850.

WVC tracksters meet Santa Rosa

After a good showing at last Saturday's Camino Norte Conference Relays, the West Valley Vikings and Santa Rosa College will tangle Friday at Leigh High School in the league opener.

The Vikes and SR finished fourth and third, respectively, behind first place Contra Costa and runner-up DeAnza. The College of Marin and Solano were far off the pace finishing in the bottom two slots. The top four teams scored almost all of the points in the meet at Santa Rosa.

Rich Dunn, John Howard, and George Stuart leaped for a first place in the triple-jump event. Dunn taped 44' 10" while Howard took a one inch edge at 44' 11". Stuart jumped 40' 6".

Seconds were awarded WVC teams in the 440 and 880 relays. Mike Hirata, Jim Galetto, Dennis Fuller and Bob Christianson clocked 43.2 in the 440 while Christianson, Fuller, Kevin Wheeler and Galetto sprinted to a 1:31.7 in the half-mile. Fuller, Christianson, Wheeler and Bill Jones brought in a third in the sprint medley.

VIKING SWIMMERS

Led by Ray Rivero and Ken Beckman, the West Valley College tankmen will host San Jose City College Saturday morning at 10:00 a.m. at the Santa Clara International Swim Center. The Vikes will move into the meet with a 1-3 dual season record.

The College of San Mateo swept first places in ten of 13 events last Saturday to swim past West Valley 79-33 at the San Mateo pool.

CAGE SEASON ENDS

West Valley Viking cagers finished the 1968-69 season with a firm hold on second place. Contra Costa, undefeated on the year with a 12-0 mark, led the league followed by the Vikes at 8-4.

The Vikes, who finished the season with a 13-13 overall record, scored 961 points in Camino Norte Conference play while opponents netted 865 tallies.

An average of 300 cars of "iceberg" lettuce are shipped daily from California and Arizona.

County seeks foster homes to get juveniles out of hall

The County Juvenile Probation Department is attempting a novel program to get teenagers out of Juvenile Hall and into home situations.

Robert Nino, chief juvenile probation officer explained, "There are many troubled teenagers in the County in desperate need of understanding and direction. Many of these youngsters have been unable to make satisfactory adjustments in their own homes, and now they are under the supervision of the Juvenile Probation department".

"The department does not feel these youngsters should be or need to be sent away to an institution", Nino said. "In cases of this kind the most effective treatment seems to be a meaningful family relationship based on mutual affection."

The County Board of Supervisors recently approved a plan recommended by the department to allow the youngsters to be placed in private "group homes".

The department staff reports that it is now seeking married couples who have the capacity to provide love and understanding for six boys or girls in a home.

The department is prepared to offer training for interested couples and will provide close consultation and supervision of the youngsters in the home in addition to moderate compensation.

Couples who are interested but do not have large homes are urged to contact the department because housing arrangements can be made by the staff with private property owners.

Couples wishing further information should contact Mrs. Cathie Brown, 299-3964 or Robert Carroll, 299-3079. The Juvenile Probation Department is primarily interested in couples "who have a genuine interest in young people and are willing to sacrifice their own time and energy".

VISITORS AT STATION-- Enthusiastic preschoolers from the Campbell Congregational Preschool, 400 W. Campbell Ave., recently visited the local fire station located on Central Ave. Firemen were on hand to show them around the immaculate station and George R. Maxwell, fire chief, welcomed the children for their annual tour. Each child was given a junior Fire Marshall Badge to wear.

Parents interested in a preschool program that is cooperative but taught by trained personnel may obtain registraiton information from Mrs. Jane Harmer at 377-6296.

PG&E issues safety rules for kite flying

Before you can say "Ynnub Sgub" two quick kite safety rules are reeled off in the 1969 edition of Pacific Gas and Electric Company's kite fun booklet.

"Ynnub Sgub", as Bugs Bunny himself points out, is his name spelled backward.

Six other safety rules follow in the pages of the booklet as Bugs, the "cwazy wabbit" runs into his nemesis, Elmer Fudd, whom he gets to build a kite for little Cicero, the pig.

Like preceding Kite Safety booklets, this year's edition is both educational and entertaining for youngsters or their parents who may aid them in building their kites.

The comic book story and kite-making layouts are supplemented by puzzle and game features of interest to boys and girls.

The full-color booklet is available free at all PG&E offices. Copies may be obtained in quantity by school or youth groups.

For the safety of young kite flyers these rules are emphasized in the booklet:

1. Never fly a kite near a radio or TV antenna.
2. Never cross a street or highway while flying a kite.
3. Never fly a kite with metal in the frame or in the tail.
4. Never use tinsel string or wire or any twine with metal in it.
5. Never fly a kite near electric power lines.
6. Never fly a kite in the rain.
7. Never pull on the string or climb a power pole to loosen a snagged kite.
8. Never touch a fallen electric wire.

Fire Department offers baby sitting seminar

In recognition of the fact that many teen-agers are left in charge of small children and babies without any training in emergency, procedures, the Campbell Fire Department has orgainized a Baby Sitters Seminar for young boys and girls, 11 years and older.

The first session, which was scheduled for March 10, started off with 65 children enrolled, and an additional 300 registered which could not be placed in a class at this time. Registration has been closed and another class schedule is now being set up, according to Gene Borden, Fire Marshal.

The second session will begin approximately April 1 and parents of the registered students will be notified as to the time and place. At the completion of the course the baby-sitters will be presented with a certificate stating that they have successfully undertaken training, and their names will be placed on file in the Campbell Youth Employment office for reference in the event an employer asks for qualified baby-sitters.

Assisting with the course will be the Campbell Jaycettes and Fire Engineer Jack Christian will serve as seminar director. Scheduled to participate in the seminar are professional people including a pediatrician, a home economics teacher, members of the Campbell Police and Fire Departments, a telephone representative and recreation specialists. The course will be presented from a man's viewpoint, according to Christian who has spent two months organizing the material and assessing the information needed.

On March 17, Kathy Nelson, a public relations representative of the Pacific Telephone Company will demonstrate the use of the telephone and Sgt. John Butler, juvenile officer of the Campbell police department will discuss law enforcement and protective measures baby sitters can use in case of danger.

The March 24 session will include a demonstration of bathing and feeding a real baby, with Carol Weiss, a homemaker and mother of four, bringing her daughter, Elisa Marie to use in demonstrating proper diapering procedures. A film, the "A B C of Babysitting" will also be shown.

At the April 7 meeting San Jose State College students majoring in recreation will hold forth on activities for the pre-school children and Garry Salmon, Campbell fireman, will speak on activities for children ages 6 to 10.

Mrs. Ardell Charlston, superintendent of homemaking education, Campbell high school district, will be in charge of the April 14 meeting and will demonstrate kitchen safety and food preparation and the do's and don'ts of stove usage.

Christian will show the film "Breath of Life" at the April 21 meeting and will demonstrate mouth to mouth-resuscitation. The April 28 meeting will be presided over by Dr. Robert Griffith, pediatrician and a first aid demonstration by Mike Johnson, fireman.

Eugene Borden, Campbell fire department marshal will show the film "Tin Pan Fire Drill" and illustrate fire escape procedures on May 5 and on May 12 a review and graduation will be held by the fire department and the Campbell Jaycettes.
